

Dear Sirs:

There are attempts being made by special interests to weaken the no call lists for phone solicitation. It is my opinion that the law should not be diluted by these special interests. If anything the laws should be stronger and the penalties stiffer to prevent ignoring the law. People should have the right to "shut the door" to these intrusions with the click of a mouse.

Thank You